Database Engineering Services

I design, optimize, and manage efficient database systems that ensure data integrity, security, and high performance. From planning the schema to writing complex queries, I create robust database solutions that support scalable applications.

Key services include:

- Database schema design

- SQL query optimization

- Data migration and backup planning

- Relational and non-relational databases (MySQL, MongoDB)

- Integration with backend applications

- Data validation, indexing, and performance tuning